

TROOPS CAPTURED KELLY'S SOLDIERS.

REGULARE TAKE THE MONTANA COXEYITES.

No Resistance Offered to the Government Blue Coats—Citizens of Billings, Mont., Fight for the Army—Disaffection in Kelly's Army Overcome at Last.

FORSYTH, Mont., April 26.—Gen. Hogan and his commonwealth army, to the number of 300 men, were arrested here at 12:30 o'clock this (Thursday) morning by a detachment of United States regulars from Fort Keogh under Col Page.

BILLINGS, Mont., April 26.—At noon yesterday the 500 members of Hogan's army, on their stolen train, arrived in this city. Close at their heels was a train bearing seventy-five deputy United States marshals. A conflict between the deputies and the army was at once precipitated. It resulted in one man on each side being severely wounded.

The train with its Coxeyites on board had spent the night at Columbus, a small station formerly known as Stillwater, and the deputies overtook them at that point and demanded their surrender.

Gen. Hogan paid no attention to the commands of the deputies to give up possession of the stolen train and ordered his men to go ahead.

The two trains came on slowly during the forenoon, the deputies closely following after the Coxeyites and watching for an opportunity to seize them and their train. On arriving at this city a stop was ordered and a conflict ensued.

M. J. Haley, who was in charge of the deputies, made an attempt to arrest Gen. Hogan and Engineer Wiley. Resistance was offered and firing begun. Charles Hardy, a peaceful bystander, was shot through the head, and will die, while several others were wounded.

The army, aided by citizens of Billings, disarmed the deputies and drove them out of town. Then the army secured a slow "hog" engine and proceeded slowly on the way to Miles City.

Deputy Haley decided that his men were not equal to the work cut out for them, and as soon as he got his men to stop firing he withdrew them and notified the authorities that his force was insufficient for the arresting of so large a mob.

The train bearing the army soon afterward slowly started for the east again, and was captured at Forsyth. It is probable that the Coxeyites will be returned to Butte under military escort.

The only way that the "army" could have escaped, apparently, was by leaving their train and starting on foot across the country.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 26.—The northwestern industrial army, 1,000 strong, made up largely of men who came to the northwest to work on the Great Northern and the Everett and Monte Cristo railways, will soon start on foot for Washington city. To-day they will march to Puyallup, where the Tacoma contingent, about 500 strong, will join them. Hopes are still entertained of securing transportation from the Northern Pacific, but failing to make this arrangement the evident intention is to board the first east-bound freight train. The army is organized in fourteen companies of about sixty men each.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 26.—The Portland contingent of the industrial army, about 500 strong, began its march eastward yesterday. They started over the line of the Union Pacific, and the supposition is that it is their intention to capture a freight train before proceeding far. They made an unsuccessful attempt to capture a Northern Pacific freight train last night, but were prevented by the police.

ARE UNITED AGAIN.

Kelly's Warring Factions Have a Tense Reconciliation.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, April 26.—Kelly's industrial army is reunited with the exception of Company C of the Sacramento division, which still refuses reconciliation. The result was effected at a meeting of the leaders yesterday, ending in the reinstatement of Baker and Speed as colonels.

The day was spent quietly in camp and a meeting was held at the opera house in the afternoon, where speeches were made and a collection amounting to $61 taken up. Many wagon loads of provisions were contributed to the army during the day. This morning the army moves to Adair, twenty-three miles east. Twenty-five recruits joined the army here yesterday, supplying the places of some of the deserters. Three industrials were arrested by the local authorities during the day for being found on the streets without permits from Gen. Kelly. They were subsequently released.

The story of the attempted assassination of Gen. Kelly is untrue. No attempt was made on his life, no conspiracy exists, and there has never been a thought of violence against him. It was a pure fabrication.

PRESIDENT NOT AFRAID.

Thinks Washington Authorities Will Be Able to Control the Armies.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—President Cleveland has given the country to understand that he is not afraid of the Coxey army and that its control when it reaches here must depend on the Washington authorities, who manage the municipal government, and not the chief executive. This is the substance of the semi-official statement given out to the press associations last night.

The committee which was selected to call upon the district commissioners and request permission for holding mass meetings at Seventh and Pennsylvania and in front of the court house has been informed that their request has been referred to the police board and that no reply will be given until the conclusions of that body are known.

Senator Peffer introduced another bill to provide work for the unemployed in the District of Columbia. The bill provides for the improvement of the public grounds of Washington by laying out and making walks, wagonways, and by the opening up of highways wherever needed in the district and for the improvement of those already provided.

In the senate Senator Allen (Neb.) offered a resolution for which he asked immediate consideration. Among other things it provides:

"That we command the prompt enforcement of all just constitutional laws, looking to the preservation of the public business and the prevention of crime, but under pretense of preserving the public peace and the prevention and punishment of crime peaceable and law-abiding citizens must not be disturbed in the full and free exercise of their constitutional rights."

Objection was made to the consideration of the resolution and it went over under the rules.

COXEY'S BRIGHT HOPES WANING.

Improbable That Any Large Body of Men Will Join Him.

FREDERICK, Md., April 26.—Coxey's army encamped within its circus canvas walls all day yesterday. This has been done by Coxey's orders; he says he wants to give the men a rest and let them have a chance to clean up. It is probable that the army will cover the distance to Washington in three marches, so that it can well afford to lose time here.

Coxey appears to be somewhat disturbed at the fact that no large body of men will join him at Rockville. He had hoped to have his forces augmented by Kelly, Jones and Frye, but it appears now that his only recruits will be some hundred men who have been loafing around in the neighborhood of Rockville. As far as indications go no considerable body of men will join Coxey between here and Rockville.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., April 26.—The branch of the commonwealth army is organized in Clinton county, with headquarters at Plattsburg. Recruits are rapidly joining.

ELLCOTT, Md., April 26.—Capt. Jones' Philadelphia division of Coxey's peace army is encamped on a farm two miles west of town. Everybody about the post presents a quiet and peaceful aspect to-day, and the soldiers are in good spirits. The camp will be struck this morning and the march resumed.

Gen. Frye Gets Transportation.

BRAZIL, Ind., April 26.—Gen. Lewis C. Frye succeeded in inducing the Vandalia officials to transport his 300 men to this city from Terre Haute, where they were sidetracked Tuesday night. They reached here in the evening and paraded the streets, headed by a martial band, under the command of Gen. Frye, who preceded the procession and marched beside a man carrying a large American flag.

DENVER, Colo., April 26.—Coxey's home reserve held another meeting in Lincoln park yesterday afternoon. There was a much larger crowd in attendance than at Tuesday's meeting, and many women were present. After several speeches a proclamation was issued.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 26.—George W. Sweetland's contingent of the Coxey army numbered ten men when it entered the city yesterday.

Gov. Jackson of Iowa Is Fearful.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 26.—Gov. Jackson is considerably worried over the advance of Gen. Kelly's army. It is feared that there may be trouble when they reach Des Moines, as they seem to feel certain that they can secure a train here. Gov. Jackson said yesterday that he believed the railroads had decided not to carry a single member of the army without a ticket. The governor declares that any attempt to seize a train will be at once frustrated and the men arrested.

Engine Seizers Not to Be Prosecuted.

OMAHA, Neb., April 26.—In all probability the men and young women who seized the Union Pacific engines and cars at the Transfer Friday afternoon will not be prosecuted. But it is given out that if an attempt is again made the participants will be arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Chicago's Detachment Growing.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Chicago's commonwealth army grew yesterday from 600 to 800 men, and three additional companies were organized—D, E and F. There is now six companies of sixty-seven men each with 400 raw recruits to be divided into companies and drilled.

To Check More Train Stealing.

TACOMA, Wash., April 26.—Sixty or seventy special deputy United States marshals have been sworn in here, at Seattle, and Spokane to prevent commonwealthers who expect to move east inside of three days from capturing Northern Pacific trains.

POLICE ARE BANDED IN A NEW UNION.

CHIEF ACHESON A MEMBER OF THE ORGANIZATION.

Prevention of Crime and Its Detection—The Wisconsin Auxiliary of the National Police Chiefs' Union Organized in Milwaukee—Chief Jansen Chosen President.

Chief Acheson is one of the members of the new police alliance that will do much to protect Wisconsin against crime. It forms the framework of a big net which will hereafter stretch over the entire state and ensnare any criminal who may have the hardihood to come within its confines. Its meshes will give their protection to nearly every community. The idea is to organize the police forces of the state so as to make their work more effective and put them on lines in consonance with the policy of the National Police Chiefs' union.

A resolution was adopted requesting the mayors of all cities to endeavor to find means for paying the expenses of the police chiefs to the annual convention of the national organization to be held in St. Louis on May 8. In the discussion which followed this resolution it was urged that every mayor should make it a point to see that this was done, as it would be to the interest of every community to have its chief police official attend the meeting of the national body, whose purpose is to simplify the work of detecting and arresting criminals in every city, town, village and hamlet of the country.

A COMPROMISE ON THE TARIFF.

Senator Brice Says That It Will Be Passed In June.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Senator Brice is authority for the statement that a compromise tariff bill has been agreed upon, which is reasonably certain to be adopted by congress early in June. It will take the form of senate committee amendments to the pending bill. Senator Brice would not indicate any of the changes the amendments will affect further than that it is the aim to secure a reduction of about 30 per cent from the McKinley law.

THE NEW CHINESE TREATY.

Western Men Talk Harshly—The Convention Recently Negotiated.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The house committee of the whole, Mr. Bailey of Texas in the chair, resumed the consideration of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. Mr. Cannon of Illinois continued in insisting upon an explanation of every small increase in the bill and offering amendments to reduce the appropriations wherever opportunity offered.

Mr. Herman (Ore.) severely criticised the treaty recently negotiated by Secretary Gresham, saying it would permit Chinese laborers to come in in direct contravention of the exclusion laws passed by congress.

Mr. Wilson (Wash.) asserted that at the precise time when the house was debating the bill to extend the provisions of the Geary exclusion law the President, in company with the chief Mongolian who presided over the state department, was signing a treaty with the Chinese minister to nullify the act of congress. The Herman amendment was defeated—25 to 69.

Mr. Hepburn offered an amendment providing that all fees of every character collected by consuls at Liverpool and various other big cities should be turned into the treasury, and their salaries should be their sole compensation. After a protracted debate the amendment was defeated—55 to 127. Adjourned.

EXTENDED SICK LIST.

Large Number of Senators and Representatives Under Doctor's Care.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The sick list of men in and about congress is reaching remarkable dimensions. Senator Stockbridge is slowly recovering from a severe illness at Chicago. Representative Simpson of Kansas is not yet convalescing. Representative Schermerhorn's condition still excites the apprehension of his associates. Representative Bramer of Maryland, is at his home with an organic trouble which gives no hope of his return to congress. Representative Graham of Brooklyn has not taken his seat owing to continued illness since his term began. Representative Brown of Indiana is still ailing from his recent serious attack. Representative Wilson of West Virginia has about recovered, but can not resume congressional work for many weeks.

Claim to Have Lost $190,000.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—J. C. Carter, counsel for the North American Commercial company, will be given a hearing on Monday. One of the questions to be argued is the liability of the government for losses sustained by the company by reason of the scaling down of the number of skins that may be taken under the existing contract. This contract authorized the taking of 100,000 skins per year, but since the complication arose with the British government over the question of pelagic sealing this number has been reduced from year to year until last year the maximum number was fixed at 7,500. The company by reason of this arbitrary action of the government claims to have been damaged to the amount of about $190,000.

THE NEGRO MINERS KILL THE STRIKE

CONNELLSVILLE RIOT WILL SOON END.

Colored Workmen Decline to Join the Movement and their Action May Cause the Failure—No Coal Will Be Allowed to Be Mined at any Price.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 26.—It now looks as if the coal miners' strike would be a failure. That statement was made by a national official of the United Mine Workers' union who had just arrived from the Pocahontas Va., coal field. He went there to try to get the negro miners out, but they refused to strike, and their refusal means the loss of the national movement. He said there are between 25,000 and 30,000 negro miners in the Pocahontas district. They receive about 35 cents a ton for mining, but as the coal is easily mined they make as much money as the diggers in other districts, where the rate is much higher. They are satisfied with their condition and refused to strike.

The official giving the information said the refusal of the men to come out killed all hope of making the suspension a success. He said an attempt will be made to fight it out in the hope of securing better rates in some districts, but there is no possibility of winning all over the country, as the shipments of coal will continue unchecked. When the miners' officials realize that the Virginia operators are getting the cream of the trade they will have to end the strike to save the business of other employers. It is said the United Mine Workers' Union is under an expense of from $500 to $800 a day in the way of salaries and traveling expenses for organizers and other officers. It had only $4,000 in its treasury when the strike was begun. There is a story going the rounds that the Ohio operators who favored the national suspension are putting up the money to conduct the strike.

STRIKE ORDER GENERALLY OBEYED

Over Half the Connelville Coke Region Men Have Gone Out.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 26.—Information from the Connelville coke region shows that the order to strike was generally obeyed. Over one-half the total number of miners and cokers employed in the district are out and the remainder are expected to be idle this evening. A peculiar feature of this strike is the peaceable nature of the strikers. One reason for this is that the mine workers are mostly affected and the cokers are striking in sympathy with them. Before quitting the cokers agreed to draw out all the coke in the ovens to prevent it from burning up.

The works at the Frick plant are nearly all manned by English speaking men, who have signed the agreement, and as they feel bound by it they are the only obstacles in the way of a general strike. There is almost a complete cessation of work in the Vanderbilt section, near Connelville. There are not over 400 men working in the region south of Dunbar, while 3,000 are striking.

The habeas corpus hearing of the 126 strikers confined in the Uniontown jail began yesterday. With the exception of a dozen the prisoners were identified as rioters. A representative of the Austro-Hungarian government was present and took notes of the hearing to be forwarded to the ambassador at Washington. Secretary Gresham will be asked to see that the men get justice, which it is claimed is denied them. All who were identified were held.

MUST BE NO COAL MINED.

This Is the Announcement Made by President McBride.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 26.—There is little change in the miners' situation except that a great many operators are trying to induce the men to go to work at the scale demanded by them. The national officers are endeavoring to prevent them from accepting the offer, and so far have met with success. President McBride says the scheme of the operators is too transparent. "If any of our forces go to work on such terms," he said, "they will assist in their own and their craftsmen's defeat. Let there be no desertions. There must be no coal mined at any price or for any purpose until a general settlement. This is a fight for bread and the miner who takes a day's work to mine coal at any price before a general settlement comes, helps to starve his own and fellow-workman's children. Out of pure shame he should never again refer to his deplorable condition in life nor insult his God or fellow-man by an appeal for help and relief."

WILL FORCE THE MINERS OUT.

Trouble Is Expected at Toluca—The Situation in Illinois.

LASALLE, Ill., April 26.—The committee having returned from Toluca with a report that the miners will not quit work, it was decided at a meeting held here last evening to march over in a body to Toluca to-day and use force if necessary. It is expected there will be between 2,000 and 3,000 men from Lasalle, Peru, Oglesby, Spring Valley, Seaton, Ladd and Laceyville in line. All is quiet here now.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 26.—The situation in the miners' strike looks less favorable for the strikers. Men at several mines are at work, only eight mines out of twenty in the Springfield subdistrict being closed. At Taylorville 150 miners struck because operators wanted to reduce their wages. At Pana 350 men are on strike. The mines of the Consolidated Coal company are in full operation.

MINONK, Ill., April 26.—Now that the Rutland miners have gone out all of the places of any importance in this district are on a strike. The Rutland men to the number of 100 went out yesterday through sympathy with the general strike.

PEORIA, Ill., April 26.—There was consternation among coal dealers here this morning when it became known that several hundred men along the T. P. & W., who have been working since Saturday, had gone on strike. The coal supply is already running short.

FAIL TO CONVINCE HILL.

American Railway Union Members Can Not Show Proper Credentials.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 26.—The committee from the American Railway union that is trying to arrange the wage schedule on the Great Northern spent all day yesterday with President Hill, trying to convince him that the members were the regularly accredited representatives of his employees, and the day ended without their object having been attained. There are thirty-three members of the committee, coming from all branches of the road's employees, and Mr. Hill went over the pay-rolls of the company to find whether the men were employees of the company. Mr. Hill explained that he did not wish to settle the matter with them and then find out they were not what they claimed and have to settle the schedules all over again. Mr. Hill wanted the men to go back to work pending a settlement of the differences. The last suggestion was promptly negated by President Debs of the union, who announced that the men did not propose to do anything until the whole trouble was settled for good. The men's demands were discussed to some extent, but everything turned on the question of what the committee represented, and when they finally adjourned in the morning. In the meantime an attempt will be made to get some of the trainmen to appear to testify that these are representatives of the employees of the road.

Coal Tiptle Burned at Zanesville.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, April 26.—The residents of the Shawnee Valley are wrought up over the burning of the tiptle at the coal mine near Shawnee belonging to J. C. Hamilton. Yesterday a committee of union miners went to the mine to endeavor to secure the men's co-operation in the strike. Superintendent Forman declared he would not entertain any interference with the miners employed, and would permit no conference. The delegation left the mine, but soon after dusk the coal tiptle was found to be on fire, and before assistance could be rendered was destroyed. This is as effective as if the co-operation of the miners was secured, as it results in enforced idleness. The leaders of the union miners claim they do not know the parties who fired the tiptle. The loss by the fire will be $2,000.

Priest a Murderer.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 26.—Mary Gilmartin, a clerk employed by the Pulvermacher Galvanic Belt company, was shot and instantly killed yesterday by a Catholic priest, Father Dominick O'Grady. Insane jealousy of the girl and her desire to get rid of his unwelcome attentions caused the tragedy. O'Grady attempted suicide by taking poison, but the prompt use of a stomach pump saved his life.

Britain to Grab Samoa.

LONDON, April 26.—Sir Thomas Esmond has given notice that in the house of commons to-morrow he will ask the government to give its assent to the annexation of the Samoan islands to New Zealand, the Samoans themselves having repeatedly given expression to their approval of such administration of their government.

Court-Martial for Maney.

SOME NOTED VETS WHO ARE IN TOWN

MANY LOOK TOO YOUNG FOR WAR HEROES.

Rebellion of Two One-Legged Men In An Ambulance—Tall Men Are Numerous—Doc. Aubrey and His Renewal of Acquaintance With Dick Turner of Libby Prison.

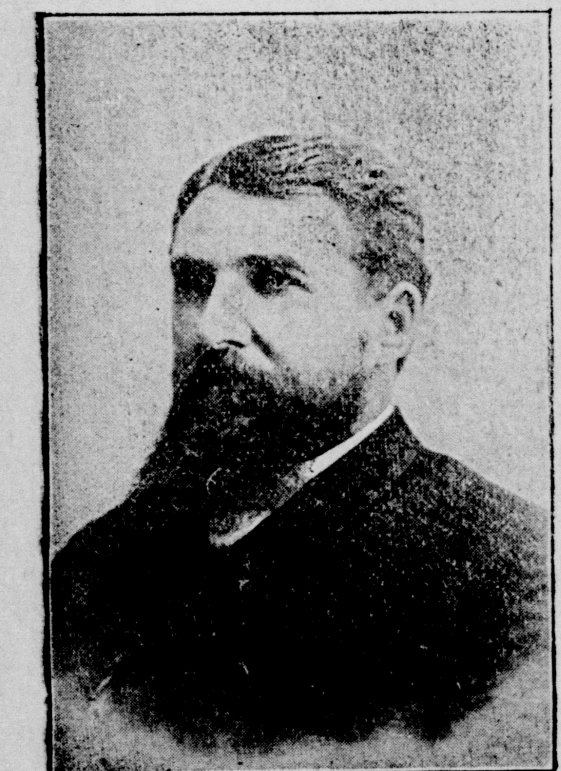

One of the youngest appearing men among the veterans in Past Commander-in-Chief A. G. Weissert of Milwaukee. Weissert followed Old Abe, the war eagle, in the regiment commanded by our honored fellow citizen Colonel Britton and was painfully wounded at Nashville. He has twice served at department commander; once as commander-in-chief and once as senior vice commander-in-chief.

A. G. WEISSERT.

Another young appearing man is Dr. O. W. Carlson of Milwaukee, who was one of the best soldiers in the

DR. O. W. CARLSON

Twenty-Eighth Wisconsin, and is one of the busiest men in his city, having a practice worth from ten to twelve thousand dollars per year.

Department Commander E. A. Shores has made a good record this year in spite of his poor health, and will retire with the hearty good wishes of every man in the department. He has been most ably assisted by his thoroughly competent and energetic Assistant Adjutant General Major D. G. Sampson. These two officers, who were both good soldiers, have filled the bill.

GEORGE ROBINSON.

They had good men to help them too. Stand at the entrance to the Armory and watch them pass:

That man with the shiny silk hat is Mark H. Barnum, editor of the "Lorch of Liberty, Wausau. He was in the Twenty-fifth Wisconsin, is a lawyer as well as an editor and a great favorite in camp fires. He seldom misses a meeting of the kind.

Captain Richard Carter, of Dodgeville, one of the men talked of for department commander, served in the Fifth Wisconsin, has been mayor of his city, is a lawyer, and was defeated for department commander last year in the same kind of a contest that seems to be growing up this year, namely, a three cornered one.

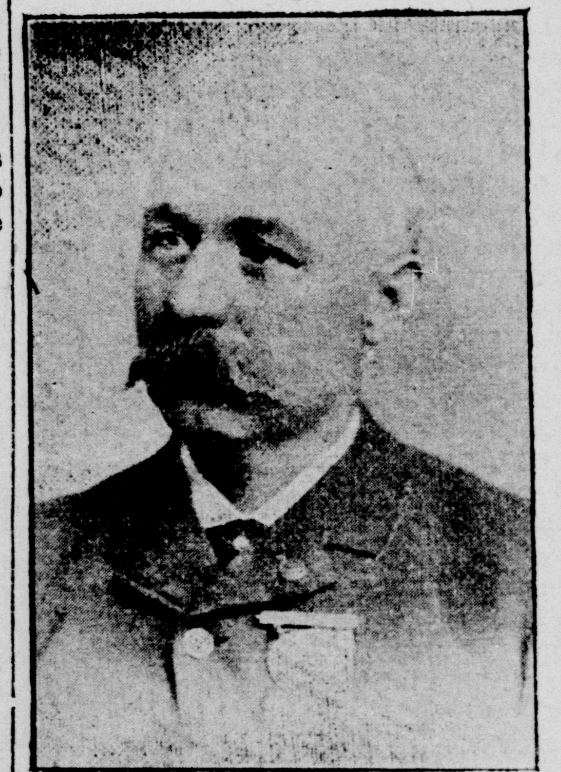

"The little fellow over there in the corner with a cane," said a delegate at the Grand, "was a boy who had not attained his growth when he joined the Seventh Wisconsin in 1861. He was in every battle of the Iron Brigade up to and including Gettysburg, where they mustered him out minus a leg. He has been a Lancaster merchant most of the time since war. His name is Alexander Ivey."

Rank does not divide the men who are in Janesville to-day. There stands a man who looks as though he might have been major general in the war, yet his rank was that of corporal and he was in the service three months. The gentleman who is at his side went into the army in 1861 as a private, and won his way to lieutenant colonel of the regiment. Those two men are typical ex-soldiers, the corporal looking like a major general and the colonel like a high private in the rear rank.

The boys seem to have sent tall men to this encampment. There is D. E. Welch, of Baraboo, who is more than six feet high, and as straight as an arrow. He entered the army a private and conducted himself so badly during his term that they sent him home when the fighting was over as colonel of an Ohio regiment. Colonel Welch has served in our state senate as postmaster.

Another tall one is Ex-Mayor S. A. Cook of Neenah, but there is no waste timber about him. He is good from his auburn hair to the heels of his shoes, and like so many of the old boys he has won an enviable position, financially, politically and doubtless religiously for he is never heard to swear much. He was in the assembly two or three years and made so efficient a member that the people of his congressional district, the Sixth, are seriously talking of giving him a chance to extend the courtesy to a two years leave of absence to Congressman Owen A. Wells, of Fond du Lac.

J. H. WOODNORTH.

The little fellow who doesn't look as though he was hardly old enough even now to go in the army, enlisted quite early and was in the service two or three years. He was about half grown apparently when he went in. His name is George M. Morton, commander of Berlin post.

That jolly, rollicking Irishman is Jim Whitty, of Company A, 6th Wisconsin, who never missed a fight that his regiment participated in, but at the first day in the Wilderness the Johnnies clipped one of his legs. On the same day Mark Smith, of the 7th Wisconsin, lost a leg. Within a week those two men whose legs had been freshly amputated were put into an ambulance and started over rough roads to Washington a distance of fifty or sixty miles. Mark and Jim thought the driver was careless when he ran over three or four big logs in succession, and they held a convention and decided upon revolution.

Jim was elected to take the lead of the army of two one-legged men; he watched his opportunity; the driver from loss of sleep became careless, dropped his lines and Jim, with his one leg, sprang for his coat collar, pulled him back in the ambulance, seized the lines and pulled himself on the driver's seat where he remained until the driver pledged himself not to run over any more logs. There was a treaty of peace and the two boys reached Washington in great agony, but they are still alive and as warm friends to-day as they were then. Both are in Madison.

Here is a pair of short, thick men, Charles A. Carter, son of Hon. A. M.

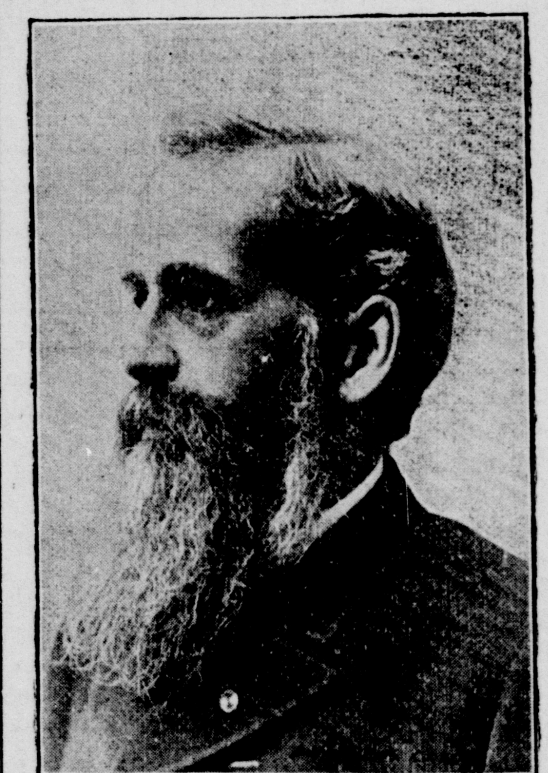

LEANDER FERGUSON.

Carter, of this city, and H. A. Heath, both with good records as soldiers and splendid records as citizens. Heath was inspector general the past year and has capped the climax, done something no one else ever did, gotten a report from every post in the state, showing that it has been properly inspected.

That is Ex-Mayor F. A. Copeland, of La Crosse, a prominent business man. Mr. Copeland was a lad in his teens when his brother, who went out in the Sixth Wisconsin, left Baraboo; he tried to go with his brother but was too young and too small. The brother was killed at Antietam. That settled it with the mayor; he enlisted with the cavalry and remained until the war was over winning a commission for bravery. He has served in the legislature and is prominently talked about for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket.

They call this man Cronin, but it isn't the one you are thinking about; this man never was stuffed into a man hole. Ed Cronin followed old Abe, the war eagle in the Eighth Wisconsin until Old Abe got Cronin in range of a Johnny musket, the discharge of which gave the surgeon of the Eighth a case of amputation.

The newspaper boys are here in quite a force among whom is E. D. Coe, of Whitewater, who followed the fortunes of as good a cavalry regiment as ever rode horses, the Fourth Wisconsin. Coe has been chief clerk of the assembly and member of the assembly, a candidate for secretary of state, postmaster, and best of all he is a model editor and citizen.

It does not do to judge a man by his looks. That tall, slim man might be taken for a chaplain who wouldn't laugh even if it would result in doubling his pension, but he isn't that kind of a man at all. Stir him up and you will find one of the jolliest of the crowd. His name is S. W. Eger, of Racine. He is a writer of note, was a splendid inspector general of the state, and is a great favorite.

J. H. Woodnorth, Leander Ferguson, C. H. Ross, J. B. Johnson and George Robinson are other well known Milwaukeeans who are here.

C. H. ROSS.

Robinson went in as private of the Board of Trade battery and came out as first lieutenant. Ferguson put in all the time that was possible, serving three months as private, three years as first sergeant and three years as first lieutenant of the First Wisconsin Infantry. Ross saw lots of active service as first lieutenant and was later brevetted major and made acting assistant adjutant general, Third Brigade, First Division, Fifth Army Corps.

Captain Jack Crawford, whose talents Janesville people appreciate so thoroughly, is a regular attendant of the encampment sessions, his flowing locks making him a picturesque figure.

The sight of ex-Senator C. K. Erwin, of Tomah, recalls a war incident. It was in front of Vicksburg, in June, 1862. Erwin was in command of a company and had captured a large number of prisoners. After the men had surrendered, a vicious Johnnie seized a bottle and struck Erwin on the head, causing an injury that has given him distress from that day to this.

J. H. Whitney, of Baraboo, is one of the well known delegates present. He was Adjutant General during the two terms that Phil Cheek was riding over the state establishing Grand Army posts by the score. He also served as adjutant under C. B. Welton. Whitney is one of those honest, manly gentlemen who always command the respect of those who know him.

The soldier boys of this state long ago adopted as their own one who was not a soldier, though he was all through the war; I mean "Doc" Aubrey. He went from Vermont but very soon after reaching Washington joined the Iron Brigade as their news boy and remained with them until the fighting was over. He located in Milwaukee right after the war and has resided there ever since. No man in the state takes deeper interest in everything pertaining to the soldiers than "Doc" Aubrey. He was made a prisoner by a squad of Jeb Stewart's cavalry in 1862 and spent a month or two in Libby. He was a mere child when he was a prisoner and the keeper, Dick Turner, pitied the little fellow, and when he took Aubrey's money told him to be sure and call for it when he was exchanged. "Doc" didn't forget to call for his $400 and he received the whole of it. About a year ago Aubrey learned that Turner was living in Memphis. He wrote to him and within a week there came back a letter from Turner telling him that he remembered the newsboy and that the next time he visited Milwaukee he should certainly renew the acquaintance.

Aubrey takes great interest in war relics; he has the largest and choicest collection of any man in the state and is adding to it every week. He is in town during this encampment and every man he is acquainted with will have an invitation to contribute. It would take two pages of the Gazette to tell of all of the many kindly acts of Aubrey in his conduct toward the soldiers. He helps them in all ways and is never so happy as when he is conscious that he is conferring a favor upon some worthy soldier.

A. J. Smith never misses an encampment. He lives at Amherst and is a trustee of the Waupaca home. He was in the regular army a year or two before the civil war began and remained in until the war was over; he is now a successful and popular lawyer and would make a good department commander. I think if I were in the places of Billings, Watrous and Carter, I would get out of the way and favor the election of solid old A. J. Smith, of Amherst.

WELL KNOWN W. R. C. WORKERS HERE

Mrs. Charity Rusk Craig has been an Efficient Officer.

The Woman's Relief Corps has brought a number of worthy ladies to Janesville, and many who are prominent. Mrs. Charity Rusk Craig, is the daughter of the late Governor Jerry Rusk, stands at the head of the order in Wisconsin, and was also at the head of the Woman's Relief Corps in the United States, and it is also claimed that they had never had a better national president than this modest brunette lady proved herself to be.

Mrs. R. S. Belle, of Milwaukee, is another past department president; she has also been secretary. Still another is Mrs. Gertrude Rogers. Mrs. Rogers was very active, and the order grew rapidly under her administration. She is the wife of Major Henry C. Rogers, a past department commander.

Mrs. Phil Cheek, of Baraboo, has been very active in the relief work. Major William H. Upham is accompanied by his good wife. "They are talking of running Upham for governor," said a Milwaukeean. "Were Mrs. Upham nominated for lieutenant governor I half suspect she would run ahead of the head of the ticket because of her popularity in northern Wisconsin. There is not a lumber camp in northern Wisconsin in which Mrs. Upham is not a great favorite, though probably not one in a thousand of the men ever met the lady. Every winter for the past ten or twelve years she has devoted time and money and hard work to collecting and sending to those camps a vast amount of reading matter. Do you wonder at her popularity? and don't you think she would make a mighty popular candidate for the office. Let me give the democrats a pointer: If the republicans nominate her husband for governor they will nominate Mrs. Upham, and Wisconsin will have a woman for governor.

The wife of Captain George Ludington has always been very active in behalf of the Woman's Relief Corps and is present.

The wife of Henry W. Blair, who has been connected with the Milwaukee Sentinel for thirty years, is present as one of the representatives of Wolcott Relief Corps of Milwaukee.

ODDFELLOWS OBSERVE THEIR 75TH ANNIVERSARY.

Sam Ryan of Appleton, Roasts the City for Its Lack of School Facilities—Musical and Literary Program of Rare Excellence—Hall Was Crowded.

Over seven hundred people crowded into Columbia hall last evening to listen to the exercises in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of American Odd Fellowship, given under the auspices of the local lodges. Grand Representative James A. Fathers acted as master of ceremonies and set the ball rolling on scheduled time. After an overture by Merrill & Clemens orchestra, Hon. Sam Ryan of Appleton gave a brief history of Odd Fellowship. He insisted that while Odd Fellows did not meddle with politics yet the army aimed at good citizenship, educational facilities and municipal improvements. He had visited the Janesville schools and was surprised to find them forty years behind the times. Janesville was one of the most beautiful cities in Wisconsin, and in order to make the city what it ought to be better school facilities were needed.

"Put old fogies who refuse to build a new high school on a log," he said, "and float them down Rock river, and pray the good Lord that it may carry them down to the Mississippi and on down to the Gulf of Mexico. The people might better stand a panic than to let their children grow up in ignorance. If there was better educational facilities there would be fewer young men in Waupun."

The male quartet gave a fine selection, receiving an encore. This was followed by the Third Ward Mandolin club, rendering two selections, being encored on each number. "Mrs. Spoodendyke and the Burglar," a humorous recitation, by Mrs. H. H. Dickinson was rendered in a pleasing manner, the lady receiving a hearty encore. A violin solo by Miss Mamie Hillabrandt was well executed. She received an encore, and her second piece was as thoroughly appreciated as the first. One of the best numbers of the evening was the zither duet by the Misses Johanna and Lottie Fabst. Mrs. J. B. Day was called to the platform, and recited in her usual pleasing manner, "Mrs. Cominsky's Courtship with Mr. Castillo," and in response to an encore she gave one of James Whitcomb Riley's dialect poems. Dr. J. H. Vivian, of Mineral Point, was introduced, and told several humorous stories. The Third Ward Mandolin club were again called to the platform, rendering a fine selection, and the entertainment concluded with a selection by the I. O. O. F. orchestra. The floor was then cleared and a dance followed.

WEDDING BELAS ECHOED.

Brazzel-Downing.

The marriage of W. H. Brazzel and Miss Maggie Downing in St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 6:30 o'clock was briefly noted in The Gazette last night. Miss Nellie Bishop acted as bride's maid and Alderman William Cunningham attended the groom. A wedding breakfast, of which a number of inmate friends partook was served at the home of the groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. Keran, Brazzel, 168 North Hickory street, and at 12:40 the groom and his bride left for a trip to Chicago, Omaha and other western points. On their return they will reside in the Fred Vankirk house, 204 South Academy street.

Henry Brazzel, as the groom is best known, is one of the most popular engineers on this division of the Northwestern railway. He is a Janesville boy from the cradle up, and is a young man in whom every one has confidence and respect. He has chosen for his life partner a young lady, who will make sunshine for her new home.

Loesby-Prill.

William Loesby, of this city, and Miss Sophia Prill, of Ripon, were married at noon to-day. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Prill. A number of the Janesville friends of the well known traveling man received cards.

THE BRAVERY OF A COMMON SOLDIER.

Unostentatious Deed that Showed Courage of the Truest Sort—Congressman W. A. Stone's Story Will Be Read With Interest—Work
Saved the Day.

Congressman W. A. Stone tells a good story of bravery as exhibited by the common soldier during the great American conflict, which will be read with interest, especially by the residents of Wellsboro and Tioga county, Pa. The congressman says: "Our regiment, the One Hundred and Eighty-seventh Pennsylvania, when we were in the Virginia swamps just previous to the battle of Petersburg, had charged into a piece of woods and recaptured a rifle pit which had been taken from our forces by the confederates. It began to rain furiously just as we drove the enemy out and got possession. Right in front of our company the pit took a sharp turn. A few rails, logs and limbs of trees had been thrown down and dirt piled upon them from both sides. The ground was very swampy and the rain soon formed quite a depth of water on each side in the trench. The confederates kept up a brisk fire, and we had to settle down in the mud and water to obtain any protection. Night came on and the firing still kept up. About midnight it was discovered that the water was washing the earth away in front and that it was necessary for some one to get over and shovel on a new covering at the angle in front of us, or otherwise our protection would soon be gone. Capt. Hart, then commanding the company which lay at that point, hesitated to order a detail, and called for some one to volunteer to engage in the dangerous work. The enterprise was not only dangerous, but it was

HE SHOVELED AWAY.

one hundred chances to one that the person attempting it would be carried to the rear riddled with bullets. It was positively certain that as soon as the sound of the shovel was heard, the enemy, lying directly in front and but a short distance away, would direct their fire to that spot. Everyone saw the situation and the danger, and naturally no one was in haste to volunteer. Finally a private named Lon Mock, a man of delicate frame, who had enlisted in Company A from Wellsboro, Tioga county, Pa., stepped to the front and said, without any flourish and as though it was the most ordinary affair of his life, that he would undertake the job. The terrible campaign of 1864 and the dampness and malaria of the Virginia swamps had told upon his health, and he hardly looked able to lift a shovel, much less to undertake the probably fatal work in hand. He had always done his duty, but in a very unostentatious way, in no manner distinguishing himself, and it was with much surprise that his comrades saw him step to the front when they had all hung back. He did not seem to be anxious to go, and there was no air of bravado about him. He simply esteemed the act to be in the line of his duty, and if that was the case it made no difference to him whether the performance was dangerous or not. He saw, also, that the lives of comrades were at stake, and that it was necessary for some one to throw up the defense that had been washed away in the interest of saving life. A shovel was obtained and Mock climbed over the rifle pit and began his work. Sure enough, as soon as the sound of the shovel was heard the bullets began to fall thick and fast about him. One struck his shovel fair on the flat surface and sent it spinning out of his hand, but he at once picked it up and shoveled away again as though nothing had happened. Everyone held his breath, expecting every moment that Mock would be struck, and while we were crouching behind the pit in comparative safety, he shoveled as leisurely as though he were digging his garden at home. How he ever escaped was a mystery to us all. For fifteen or twenty minutes he worked there with his back to the enemy under a constant and rattling fire until the breach was repaired, and then climbed back, saying, quietly: "I guess it is all right now, boys," and everyone felt like hugging him for his brave act. Lon Mock marched no more with us in that campaign. The result of his exertion was a severe cold, and he gradually went down to his grave and survived the war but a short time. His brave act in front of Petersburg has not been forgotten, however, and every spring when his comrades strew his grave with flowers the story of his heroism is retold by those who personally knew of the action. He never received promotion, and his heroism is only one of the many brave deeds done by our volunteer soldiers which never saw any other reward than the gratitude of their comrades."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

A GALLANT NAVAL EXPLOIT.

How a Handful of Farragut's Men Captured a Blockade Runner.
On the night of August 1, an English blockade runner, favored by circumstances, ran through the fleet, but was pressed so closely by pursuing gunboats that, running too near to the land, her keel took the bottom at a point close under the guns of Morgan. Farragut was much annoyed by the circumstance, and ordered an expedition to be formed, composed of two boats from each ship, amounting to one hundred men, who, under cover of darkness, pulled in for the beach. At three o'clock they returned, reporting that they could not find the wreck. Farragut summoned his aid, Lieut. Watson.

"Watson, take my barge and a dozen men; go in there and destroy that blockade runner."

Watson required no second bidding; he loved such work. The larger expedition retired chagrined, while the crew of the barge, with white covers on their caps to distinguish them from the enemy, armed with cutlasses and revolvers, pulled at a swinging stroke straight for the entrance to the confederate works. The fort loomed up through the darkness, stern and forbidding, while a sharp lookout for the hull of the blockade runner was maintained. She was discovered by a keen-eyed young topman, lying in the deep shadow of an angle of the fort. There was no delay or nonsense about it, no appeal to the men to fight manfully. There was no occasion for that with the men of the "Hartford." The barge was headed direct for her, the men boarding just forward of the starboard paddle box. The demoralized crew were driven in all directions, many seeking safety in flight ashore, giving the alarm to the garrison. With dextrous hands the sailors screwed combustibles in various parts of the vessel, and placing a large tank of powder in the midst of the machinery, the torch was applied. Fort Morgan had now opened a plunging fire, and as the barge pulled off shore, flames burst from all portions of the doomed craft, revealing a company of soldiers advancing at a double quick down the broad beach. But the game had slipped through their fingers. The shot from the fort made the water boil and foam around the barge, but none struck her, and as the first red streaks of dawn tinged the east Watson reported his mission to the admiral as accomplished.—Blue and Gray.

A SOLDIER'S BRAVE DEED.

Double-Quickening Across the Top of a Trestle Bridge Under Fire.

In the latter part of December, 1862, when small detachments were scattered along the line of the railroad from Columbus, Ky., to Holly Springs, Miss., guarding the bridges and trestle work, the following incident took place, which for cool courage exceeded anything that came to my attention during my three years of service:

After the capture of Holly Springs, Miss., Gen. Forrest's cavalry made a raid northward upon the line of railroad and captured every station between Jackson, Tenn., and Columbus, Ky., except a small detachment of some seventy-five men who were guarding the bridge and trestle across the Obion river, about ten miles north of Jackson, Tenn. This detachment was composed of parts of companies H and I of the One Hundred and Sixth Illinois infantry, and was commanded by Capt. P. W. Harts, now of Springfield, Ill., and Capt. John Shockey, now of Nevada, Mo.

After the attack on Jackson and the capture of Col. Ingersoll and part of the Eleventh Illinois cavalry a detachment of some five hundred men with two pieces of artillery was sent by Gen. Forrest against the handful of men guarding Obion bridge. The federal guard had hastily built a rude blockade house directly under the trestle, determined to make the best possible defense. Promptly at one o'clock on December 23 the station north of the river was surrounded by some five hundred confederate cavalry, who dismounted and made a desperate effort to capture the guard and destroy the bridge and trestle, and thus break railroad communication with Jackson. Here the unequal battle raged until the middle of the afternoon. The shrieking shells and swishing shot crashed through the heavy timber surrounding the fort. Capture seemed inevitable. Reinforcements could only be hoped for from Jackson. It was decided that some one should venture to leave the fort, climb the open trestle some fifteen feet high and run over the ties for several hundred yards across the trestle and bridge to secure reinforcements.

The task was solicited by Sergt. Henry Fox, of Company H. Hand over hand he gained the top of the trestle and then with a regular double-quick he ran from tie to tie across this dreadful line. The enemy from both sides of the road shot at him, and while his clothes bore ample evidence of the danger he had run he was untouched. Fortunately the fire from the fort was too dangerous to permit the enemy to bring their artillery through the woods within range of the fort, and from the distance the heavy timber obstructed the shot. The station was not captured; the bridge was saved. Reinforcements arrived at dark after the enemy had withdrawn. Sergt. Fox was promoted to a captain in the United States colored troops, where he served until the close of the war.

He now lives as an honored citizen of Dwight, Ill.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

HOPE FOR THE HAIRLESS.

Professor Birkholz, of Chicago, Gives Hope to Those Afflicted with Baldness—A "No Cure, No Pay" Treatment.

Professor G. Birkholz, of Chicago, the eminent German specialist, who for years has devoted his time and talent to the study of the hair follicles, and who has evolved the most successful treatment for baldness the world has ever known.

He will carefully examine each case and candidly inform the inquirer whether his hair can be cured and the hair be restored. These examinations are made without charge.

In all cases where there are any hair follicles remaining undestroyed by age or disease the professor will undertake a cure, and if he does not effect a restoration of the hair he will ask no pay.

The remedy is an importation, and the treatment given by the professor is his own, and cures where all others fail. If your case has been pronounced incurable do not take it as a final answer until you have seen Professor Birkholz and received his opinion.

Many persons have small bald spots through the hair. These increase in area and in time produce baldness. In such cases the hair follicles need nourishment. Prompt treatment will bring them into activity and restore the hair.

The success that has attended Professor Birkholz everywhere enables him to give a positive opinion in each case presented to him. Those who are bald or are threatened with baldness should not delay treatment, but call upon the professor at once. 1011 Masonic Temple Chicago.

Hand this notice to any first-class drug store and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock.

Senator Morgan is not ashamed of his defense of Minister Stevens, the man who raised our flag over Hawaii, as these remarks to a meeting in Alabama show: "Fellow citizens, you would have been ashamed of me if I had been led off by a partizan howl, gotten up by unfair men, and laid aside justice and followed a political crowd either to land a man or to destroy him." That's rather rough on Cleveland and Gresham, who got up the "partizan howl."

The democratic party is primarily responsible for the Coxe army idocy, because of its having destroyed the employment of thousands of men; but if the misguided and ill-advised men who are on their way to Washington get into serious trouble the sensational portion of the press will be directly responsible for it.

Ambassador Bayard has more than once during his political life attempted the feat of riding two horses going in opposite directions at one and the same time; hence no one was surprised at his attempt in a single speech to tell his admiration for the English and the Irish.

Mr. Cleveland whacks Hill over the head and talks about how strong the democratic party is when it is devoted to principles instead of spoils. When was that, pray? If the democratic party was ever really devoted to a principle the people did not find it out.

How many of the men who make the most bitter attacks on capitalists at every opportunity would decline becoming capitalists themselves, if they could do so without hard work, self denial and frugality—anybody can with them?

The on-to-Washington armies have been fed and helped along on their journey, by those anxious to get rid of them as soon as possible, but it is not apparent who is to feed them at Washington.

The best way for the Washington authorities to deal with the Coxeyites is simply to let them alone, as long as they obey the laws.

The crop of demagogues was not even scotched by the late frosts. The market is now glutted with them and still they come.

Coxey's claim to represent the people is a delicious bit of spring-time "gall."

ARBOR DAY COMES TO-MORROW.

Trees To Be Planted in the Several School Yards.

Arbor day will be observed by the pupils of the Janesville city schools on Friday by appropriate exercises in the respective buildings at the morning session, after which the remainder of the day will be devoted to beautifying the grounds, as the teachers and pupils think best.

"The idea of improving the school grounds is in vogue in many places," said Superintendent Mayne to-day, "and I think it very appropriate here."

Many of the teachers and pupils of the different grades are preparing flower beds on the school grounds. In some cases two or more grades have joined in making large plots in which to plant flowers, and other grades are working by themselves, each being assigned sufficient ground for the purpose.

G. A. R. GAZETTE'S FOR MAILING

Copies Can Still Be Secured At the Counting Room.

Compliments of the most flattering order have been flowing into the Gazette office today on account of the handsome appearance of the Grand Army edition of the Gazette published evening. Some months ago the Gazette management conceived the idea of making extra efforts on occasions of general holidays, or great gatherings like that of the Grand Army reunion to publish a more than usually, an attractive paper illustrating the enterprise, not only of the paper but of the city in which it is published. That these efforts are truly recognized by the public is shown by these compliments bestowed and the manner the paper is received by our visitors. An extra edition of nearly one thousand copies was issued last evening, containing an account of yesterday's session of the Grand Army, illustrated with a number of portraits of Grand Army leaders in Wisconsin. The sale was rapid, but copies can still be had for mailing at this office.

STALWART MILWAUKEEAN IS
DEPARTMENT COMMANDER

Informal Ballot Showed How Matters
Stood and there was No Opposition—Mrs. Hanover Re-elected By the W. R. C.—Fifteen Hundred Men on Parade.

J. A. Watrous will serve the Wisconsin G. A. R. as department commander for the next year.

There wasn't even fight enough to get Col. Watrous' friends interested.
There were half a dozen nominating speeches; then as sentiment began to be apparent Capt. L. K. Billings of Rhinelander, was formerly with-

COMMANDER J. A. WATROUS.

drawn. The informal ballot did the business. Watrous got 221 votes out of a total of 300. An outburst of enthusiasm followed the announcement.

Captain Richard Carter, who was the only other candidate in nomination promptly withdrew. On motion of his friends the nomination was made unanimous and Colonel Watrous
was declared elected by acclamation.
Other officers elected were:

Senior Vice Commander—Richard
Carter, Lancaster.

Junior Vice Commander—Charles H.
Russell, Berlin.

Medical Director—Dr. J. B. Whiting, Janesville.

Chaplain—Rev. W. H. Thompson,
Green Bay.

The next state encampment will be held in Green Bay.

Colonel Watrous was put in nomination by A. J. Smith, of Amherst. Seconding speeches were made by M. P.
Walsh, of Milwaukee; F. S. Veeder,
of Mauston; and others. Delegate Mason,
of Rhinelander, formally withdrew
his fellow-townsmen L. K. Billings,
while Richard Carter, of Dodgeville,
was put in nomination, after a stirring
speech.

There were 118 votes necessary to a choice, and the first ballot showed that Watrous had everything his own own way.

Watrous Has Served Faithfully.

Colonel Watrous, who has done
more than any other one man to build up the Wisconsin G. A. R. is fifty-three years of age, and a native of
New York. He came to Wisconsin
when four years old and attended the public schools three months during four winters and afterwards took a term at Lawrence university. After teaching school at the age of sixteen learned the printers trade and was a publisher and editor at twenty. He enlisted in June, 1861, in Co. E, 6th Wisconsin and was ordnance sergeant
of the Brigade until after the battle of Antietam when he was promoted to ordnance sergeant of the division.
He was made sergeant major of the regiment and a few weeks later first lieutenant and adjutant, closing his active service as adjutant general of the Iron Brigade at Gravelly Run or White Oak Road, Virginia, March 31,
'65, when his horse was killed under him and he was made prisoner. He resumed the newspaper business
within a week after returning to the state, first as half owner and editor
of the Black River Falls Banner where he lived four years, serving one year
as county superintendent of schools
and one term in the assembly. He became one of the editors and publishers of the Fond du Lac Commonwealth in 1869 and in 1870 was the republican candidate for congress. He located in Milwaukee in 1880 and has been connected with the Telegraph
ever since, most of the time as editor.
He was also state pension agent for four years and collector of customs.
He has never asked for promotion in the army or for an office in civil life
and consequently he cannot be called an office seeker though he has held several important positions.

Favor a St. Paul Encampment.

The encampment voted unanimously
to recommend St. Paul as the place for the national encampment in 1895.
This summer Pittsburg is the place.
Colonel Schafer, of St. Paul, delegated by the citizens of that metropolis to solicit the endorsement of St. Paul has been here for two days and has done good work.

Other cities competing for the national encampment are Richmond and Atlanta. The citizens of Richmond
have raised nearly $100,000 to defray
the expenses of that gathering.

MRS. CORDELIA PRESTON IS DEAD

Aged Mother of Mrs. Caroline Stone Called Home.

Mrs. Cordelia Preston, mother of Mrs. Caroline Stone, the wife of blind
Daniel Stone, for whose murder Matthew R. Ashton was tried and convicted, died this morning aged eighty-five years. The infirmities consequent to her old age, was the cause of her demise. Her death removes about the last of the central figures in that sensational case. Mrs. Stone was killed; Daniel Stone died before the trial, and Matthew R. Ashton died in the Madison jail of small pox, contracted in the Jefferson jail during the time subsequent to his conviction.

SUPERINTENDENT MAYNE ordered a

was again called at 2 this afternoon,
the pupils being given an extra hour
for dinner.

J. L. SPELLMAN fought with a Virginia regiment in the confederate
army but he is enjoying the reunion
as much as anybody. He has met a lot of men who tried to punch him
with bayonets a few years ago and
last evening he was around with Doc Aubrey "the Milwaukee newsboy,"
who was captured by Spellman's regiment at Warrentown, Va. and sent to Libby prison.

A queer lawsuit has just been tried in Honesdale, Pa. The employers of a glass company offered to their employees who got married a house rent
free for six months and $10 for the first child born. Arthur Richardson,
an apprentice, married and for the first half year paid no rent and when
his first heir was born claimed the $10
bounty. The company denied his claim, and not only refused to pay,
but demanded the rent. The case in court hinged on whether Richardson
married for love or to secure the bonus, and as he declared that love
was the inducement the court ruled
that this was fatal to his case.

MORE BLOOD FOUND ON COATS' CLOTHING

SHERIFF BEAR FINDS A RED
CLOT UNDER THE COLLAR

The Accused Says He Was Spattered
With Gore While Butchering Hogs
at Spring Green a Year Ago—Seen
Washing His Garment in a Pond.

Despite the fact that Sheriff Bear
found a fresh clot of blood on his coat
despite the fact that the coils of the law are tightening about him, Charles Coats maintains his cool demeanor
and seeming indifference. If he is innocent it is a strong point in his favor; if he is guilty it will count
tellingly against him.

Not one whit was his case helped by
his story about how he got the blood
on his coat and in fact it worked against him. That it was spattered
on him while killing hogs at Spring
Green nearly a year ago is his excuse, but chemical tests, etc., will tell
the story as to whether the blood is that of a human being or not. The story did not jibe at all with the discovery that Sheriff Bear had made, for underneath the collar of Coats' coat
was found fresh blood that had not even been wiped away.

"It was a clot as red as a cherry"
said the sheriff.

Another link was apparently added
to the chain yesterday. A woman
asked Marshal Springer of Edgerton,
"if they had learned anything more concerning Coats," and when he told her that blood was found upon the coat she said "Well that's the reason I saw him washing his coat at the pond." Another thing that looks bad for him is the fact that his coat had no lining and it bore evidence of recent removal.

Was He Dressed for Flight?

When he left Edgerton that Saturday night he wore two caps, a plush
one and a light colored one; and two pairs of trousers. He had calculated to go to Milwaukee, and by discarding one cap and a pair of trousers he would have been wearing entirely different clothing from what the description would call for.

When he was first arrested by Officer Hogan and Constable Cochrane
and searched at the jail by Sheriff
Bear, Turnkey Griffey and Officer Hogan and Cochrane, he had in his pockets
a number of keys of various kinds,
including the favorite skeleton key of
a tramp, a button hook partially straightened out. He also had a pocket knife. The theory that Coats
may have gotten the blood on his coat from the thumb that he sawed
while working in Coxhead's stone
quarry is pretty well exploded by Mr.
Coxhead's statement that Coats did not have his coat on when the accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horn
drove from Indian Ford
to Edgerton that Saturday
night with a white horse
and a lantern fastened to the
dashboard of their buggy at a time
when Coats must have been passing
if he went that way. Dr. McManus,
of Edgerton, was also on the same
road about the same time, yet Coats
says that he met no person either between Edgerton and the Ford or the Ford and Fulton. Neither Mr. Horn
nor Dr. McManus met Coats that night. The accused was before the municipal court this morning and the examination was adjourned until May 2.

FULLY 1500 MEN IN LINE.

Boys of '61 Made an Inspiring Show Drawn
Up on Parade.

Not less than 1500 men were in line
to-day.

Men of fifty and sixty years shook
their heads when the idea of marching was suggested. They limped a little when they started up Milwaukee
street, but as the music of life and
drum struck their ears, every head
went up and the stride quickened to regulation cadence. First came the Fire Police looking very trim and officer-like in their new uniforms. The Monroe fire and drum corps came next,

and then two platoons of the Light Infantry. Edgerton Zouaves had sixteen sturdy boys in red and white under command of A. B. Campbell. The carriages came next with Commander
E. A. Shores, his staff officers and many of the past department officers.
W. D. Hoard rode in the second carriage and received many salutes. One carriage was occupied by department
officers of the W. R. C.

The main body of the procession,

veterans on foot, was headed by the Janesville veteran drum corps.
Trudging along in the dust with no evidence of elation was Commander-elect J. A. Watrous, keeping step to the music and eyes to the front. Here
and there along the line some comrade would start "Marching Through Georgia" or John Brown's "Body" and the song would be taken up by other divisions. At the head of the second division was a significant group.
J. L. Spellman and Officer Ed.
Smith both of whom were members
of General Jeb Stuart's confederate
cavalry marched on this side of "Doc" Aubrey, of Milwaukee, whom their
regiment captured at Warrentown,
Va. Ending the line came the Janesville twelve-pounder with Jerome

Howland and A. W. Wallis, two members of the Twelfth Wisconsin battery
guiding the horses and Hanley Sexton and W. A. Pierson, two more of the battery boys seated on the limber.

Marshal B. H. Baldwin and Asst-
ant C. H. Gage had charge of the parade and conducted the veterans over
a half-mile course to the upper end of court house park where the Edgerton Zouaves gave a silent drill and the Light Infantry a sham battle.

PICKPOCKET GOT
DR. GISH'S $105.

"DIPPERS" DID A GOOD BUSI-NESS IN THE CROWD.

T. J. Forbes Caught By Al Smith with Paul Schroder's Pocketbook Containing $550 in Notes in His Possession But the Man who Robbed
the Doctor Got Away.

Pickpockets reaped a rich reward in the crowd at the corner of Coor't and Main streets this noon and Thomas J.
Forbes was locked up in jail with a pocketbook in his possession after a chase by a crowd who didn't dare
seize him when he came to bay in the alley back of Brownell & Clemon's store. Here Al Smith who was coming down through the alley grasped
the situation and incidentally caught
the thief and marched him to jail.

Dr. S. H. Gish lost a pocket book containing $105 in cash.

Mrs. Smith lost a gold watch, and when Forbes was caught by Mr. Smith
he threw a pocket book away. The book belonged to Paul Schroder, and contained notes aggregating $550, beside other valuable papers, and a gold ring. There was no money in it, but there might have been when it was taken. Dr. Gish's book was not recovered.

It was Forbes and his partner who did the work. Dr. Gish felt them take the book from his hip pocket, and whirling around grabbed Forbes. The thief wrenched himself loose and ran.
"Stop, thief!" was the cry raised, and the crowd took after Forbes. Al Smith came down the alley in time to take him in charge, although Forbes remonstrated stoutly. The other thieves got away.

There was a large increase of births
in Massachusetts last year, and the result is credited to the foreign population.

To Miss Kate Santley.

A word with you, Miss Santley, please;
'Tis not of praise or condemnation;
I merely wish this chance to seize
For ordinary conversation.
(I've never seen you act or dance,
Although I heard no soul was lither;
Nor have I ever had the chance
Of hearing you, Miss Santley, either.
I would that memory were mine
Of clever Number Ninety-Nine!
But not too late I came on earth
To have of you sweet recollection.
You see, your Judy's "Call Boy's" birth
Was hardly under my direction.
Of course, if I had heard of you
As Jessica before my birthday,
I'd prize the day of your de-hoo,
And mourn it as a "heaven-on-earth"
day.

And write a notice large and fine
Concerning solely Ninety-Nine.
I can't, though, and the fault belongs
To Time, the heartless scenery-changer.
I never heard the funny songs
Which marked the "take-off" of "The "Ganger."
(The song in which you first appeared In London.) No, to pet and praise you
I'm quite unable, as I feared.
My "word with you" is just to raise
you
To "C. B. G."—A valued sign.
Good evening, Number Ninety-Nine.

THE HERRMANN BROS.

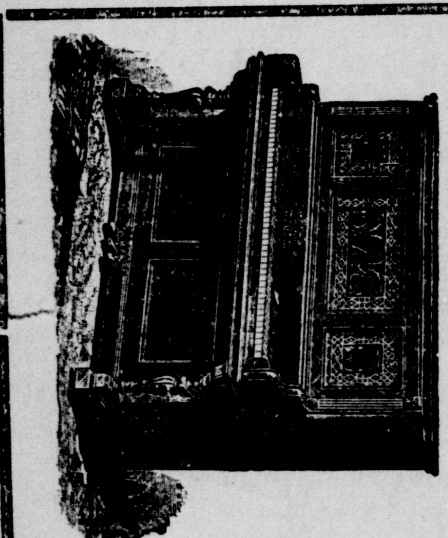

The Name Is a Century Old in Connection with Conjurings.
Alexander Herrmann, the well known magician, was born in Paris, France, fifty years ago, and in 1876 he was naturalized at Boston, Mass., and, having thus become an American citizen, has made this country his home ever since. The name of Herrmann, in connection with conjuring, is a century old, and has been handed from father to son, and from brother to brother, the subject of this sketch being twenty-five years the junior of his brother, Carl Herrmann. Alexander Herrmann made his first American appearance, in conjunction with his brother Carl, at the Academy of Music, New York, in 1860-61, where in seventy-five nights they played to enormous profits and met with a success, it is claimed, without a parallel in the history of magical entertainments. The two brothers, after a tour of the world, separated, but formed another co-partnership in 1867, and made a successful tour of this country, after which the elder brother retired from the business. The younger brother, the subject of this sketch, has continued the business ever since, visiting the principal cities of Europe, Brazil and other South American countries, and returning to the United States in 1874, after having appeared for one thousand consecutive nights at the Egyptian hall, London, Eng. Since that time he has visited all the cities in this country and Canada, each season increasing his financial success. The entertainment that this genial prestidigitateur is presenting this season is, it is claimed, the best he has ever given, and has liberally been indorsed by press and public.

PITCHER STIVETTS.
One of the Clever Curvatures of the Boston Ball Club.
John Stivetts, one of the pitchers on the Boston club of the National league and American association, hails from one of the villages in Schuylkill Co., Pa., and is about 25 years old. He played with minor league teams for several years prior to 1889, when he was engaged as one of the pitchers of the St. Louis club of the American association. He remained with the St. Louis team during the seasons of 1890.

JOHN STIVETTS.
In the fall of 1891 he jumped the St. Louis club's reservation along with McCarthy and signed with the Boston club of the National league. At the Indianapolis meeting when the National league and American association were consolidated, the Boston and St. Louis clubs each made a claim for the two players, but the former's was acknowledged as valid, and the Boston team was strengthened immensely by these two men. Stivetts is not only a very speedy and clever pitcher, but is a fine fielder and a heavy and reliable batsman.

"Is the mistress of the house in?" inquired the peddler. "No," replied the tired looking timid woman who had gone to the kitchen door to answer the knock. "It's her afternoon out."

"What do you think of running Timmins for congress?" "It wouldn't do at all. He's all the time catchin' cold and gettin' hoarse. Simmons is the man. He's got a voice like a fog horn."
Citizen, hurriedly—Ticket and a half for Podunk. Ticket Agent, snappishly—Do you want the half ticket for that big girl by your side? Citizen—The whole ticket is for her, but she insisted on paying fare for her favorite doll; so to humor her I want the half ticket also. Ticket Agent—Um—er—how old is the doll?

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

G.A.R. NOTICE

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, or their widows, children, or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address:

Press Claims Company,

BRIEF BITS OF HUMOR.

A Still Hunt.

Nervous Wife—I hear a burglar.
Nervous Husband—Wool! I'll crawl
under the bed and see if he is there.—
N. Y. Weekly.

ALREADY BESPOKEN.

Lady of the House—I am a poor,
lone widow, sir; and—
Ragged Haggard—I'd like to accommodate you, ma'am; but I am already betrotted.—Puck.

A Philosopher.

Col. Hahdupp—What are you laughing at, uncle?
Uncle Mose—I see laffin' t' tink I
hain't got no job, sah.
Col. Hahdupp—I don't see the point.
Uncle Mose—De p'int am jes heah,
sah. Ef I had a job I'd eeder be gittin'
fired or expectin' t' be gittin' fired, or gittin' mah pay rejueed, an' I'd be perfectly misabul.—Judge.

Not at All Polite.

Pillies—That young Dr. Sagely is a
queer person.
Squills—How so?
Pillies—Mrs. Hyswelle called him in to prescribe for one of her indisposi-
tions and he told her there was nothing the matter with her and proved it.
And yet he wonders why he doesn't
get on better with his rich patients.—
Chicago Record.

He Knew Her.

Mrs. Fidget—Now, Tommy, I want you to be as quiet as a mouse! I'm busy!
Tommy (scornfully)—Huh! If I was a mouse, you'd jump up on a chair and yell!—Truth.

His Reputation.

Barry—I'm going to have a great
joke at old Skinfint's expense in a day
or so.
Garry—You'd better not. He won't pay it.—Detroit Free Press.

Little Things Tell.

If you would know for sure her age,
Ask not herself or mother;
Just make a quiet pilgrimage
Unto her little brother.—N. Y. World.

A Misunderstanding as to Time.

Dedhedde—Will you lend me five dollars for a couple of days?
Wisley—No. I might need it, you know, next year.—Chicago Record.

For Future Consumption.

Little Edith had the habit of eating
out the soft part of her bread and tuck-
ing the crust under the edge of her plate. Her mother had frequently re-proved her for this reprehensible practice, but it appeared to have no lasting effect. The other evening she was detected at her old trick. Her mother said:
"Edith, how often have I told you about leaving your crusts? There may come a day when you'll be glad to get them."
"Yes, mamma," replied Edith, with
a demure, whimsical countenance,
"that's what I'm saving 'em for."—
Brooklyn Life.

No Opposition Likely.

Little Boy—What's the matter?
Mr. Nicefellow—Oh—um—nothing—nothing. Just—er—thinking, that's all.
"Has Sis told you that you must speak to papa?"
"Y-es."
"Well you needn't get scared. Papa
won't be mad. He'll look surprised,
and hem and haw a little, and then
jump up and say: 'Bless you, my children.'"
"Are you sure?"
"That's the way he did to all the others that Sis sent to him."—Good News.

Trovatore and Toothache.

"Did you find out what that woman
was hollerin' about?" said Farmer Cornstossel's wife, when the old gentleman returned to their room in the hotel.
"I asked the clerk," he replied.
"What did he say?"
"He said it was 'Il Trovatore.' I didn't like to show my ignorance by askin' more questions. But I reckon
maybe it's ther sassiety name fur toothache."—Washington Star.

Mistook His Sex.

Haverly—Cholly Chumpleigh says
that New York is the most polite city
in the world.
Austen—What has given him that
idea?
Haverly—Cholly got on a Broadway
car the other day when it was pretty
crowded and a short-sighted old gentleman got up and offered him his seat.
—Town Topics.

Manifestly Mendacious.

"Cholly is becoming untruthful,"
said one young woman to another.
"You don't mean it?"
"Yes. I asked him if he intended to go to the Van Twiggins, and he said
he did not know."
"I'm sure that was candid."
"Yes. But he went on to say he was thinking about it."—Washington Star.

Modern Heroism.

Weary Watkins—Say, dey ain't no
real heroes nowadays.
Hungry Higgins—Dey ain't, eh?
Why, right here in de paper is a feller
advertisin' dat he ain't afraid of work.
—Indianapolis Journal.

THE skirmish drill will take place in the court house park.

Frozen—Then on Fire.

Like the application of ice to the small of your back, is the sensation produced by the chill that precedes the fever of malaria. Then comes the roasting stage, when every vein throbs
and is scorched as if with liquid fire. Then you well nigh dissolve in exhausting perspiration that leaves you as limp as a wet dish rag. These alternating torments are not remediable permanently with quinine, which is, moreover, a most damaging cumulative poison. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters drives out the foe and repels
its further attacks. It is the leading medicinal safeguard against malaria all over the continent of North and South America, Guatemala,
the Isthmus of Panama, Mexico and Australia.
It regulates the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys, enriches the blood, and promotes appetite, sleep and digestion. It is not only a medicine, but an effective cordial welcome to the most delicate palate. Rheumatic tendency is counteracted by it.

Catarrh

COLD IN THE HEAD
relieved instantly by one application of Birney's Catarrh Powder

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop
of Columbus, Ohio, writes:
"GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering."
M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores,
Chicago, writes:
"GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick mainly, it being held 15 inches from my ear. Think much of it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve."

EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS.

Gent's Fine Shoes $3.50.

The above statement is a stunner when you think of it for a moment. We have just placed on sale what we call an Extraordinary bargain in Gent's Fine Footwear and which is worthy of your careful consideration. This bargain is one of exception and is not equaled by any other house in the city. We were fortunate enough in buying these shoes to obtain them at a moderately low price and we took advantage of the chance. They are a very nobby shoe, stylish and have the new pointed toe which is creating such enthusiastic admiration among stylish dressed gentlemen. They were made by one of the best factories in Brockton for a $5 shoe, but we are going to do as we say, let them go for $3.50. Call and see them.

Ladies' Serge Congress 50c

We have a large stock of old ladies serge congress shoes which we desire to reduce. This is no shop worn stuff or goods we have had in stock for years, but are bright and new. We are going to cut down the price so much that you will buy anyway. They are of a nice finish for the price, and will prove easy on your feet.

25 Cent Buskins.

How many times have you suffered pain from corns and bunions. We have a cure that costs but 25 cents and will discount all kinds of so called cures in the shape of salves and ointments that you buy. Our cure is our favorite 25 cent buskins. You should have a pair of them. They cost but little and give great comfort.

Men's Fine Shoes $1.50.

Here is a stem-winder and look out for it. You have heard of $1.50 shoes before but none like these in price and quality as we offer. This shoe is one that will prove far more serviceable than a more expensive shoe. This make of shoe is one of style and elegance. They will not drop off of your feet the first time you wear them, but are of a substantial make. We won't ask you a big price for them but come and take all you want for $1.50 per pair. A big stock of these shoes await your purchase of them. Come and examine them.
